To the graduates: Best of luck in all of your future endeavors. You have made us extremely proud!

To the returning students: We look forward to helping to write the next page of your life as a WRCC student.

WHAT'S HAPPENING NOW

ENTERING THE FINAL STRETCH OF THE 2021-2022 YEAR

Electrical:

We had a very exciting last quarter. Of the 11 seniors hoping to enter an apprenticeship 9 have been officially hired and will be starting as early as the Monday after graduation, the other two individuals run their own lawn care business and will be seeking out an apprenticeship at the end of the summer.

my seniors have been gifted tools from two different corporate partners, Granite City (our local supply house) and Klein tools ( a national tool company). The seniors entering the trade are leaving with roughly $600 of tools and the seniors not entering the trade are leaving with roughly $250 worth of tools.

Automotive:

The following students passed these ASE (Automotive Service Excellence) student-level tests.

Daniel Kennett----Maintenance and Light Repair; Engine Repair; Engine Performance; Brakes

Hunter LaBarge----Brakes

Jared Atkin----Maintenance and Light Repair; Engine Repair; Engine Performance

Lenox Ramirez----Brakes

Miles Plitt----Maintenance and Light Repair; Engine Performance; Engine Repair; Brakes

Raymond Plummer----Maintenance and Light Repair; Brakes

Early Childhood Education

This has been an exciting year for the Early Childhood Education Pathway. Level one students were able to take part in fieldwork two days a week, spending time with infants, toddlers, and preschoolers. The fieldwork experience allowed students to apply what they learned about child development and early childhood education classrooms in real time, building relationships with young children and their early childhood educators within local early childhood education programs. Students who will be 18 years old and will graduate have job offers for the summer, and beyond, if they are interested.

The level two students have completed Vt. Early Childhood Education Pre-Apprenticeship program, each recording at least one hundred hours of fieldwork. These students will continue their studies in Early Childhood Education next year in college. Congratulations Paige, Anna, and Kiran. The level two students have completed their capstone project with an in-depth assessment of the competencies they have acquired over the past two school years as well as a reflection on what early childhood educator values and dispositions they have polished. The capstone project is presented as a 20-30 minute oral presentation.

Business:

Business 1 and Foundations of Career Exploration classes have been busy wrapping up our personal finance and microeconomics units. We have explored opening bank accounts, loans, mortgages, paying taxes, creating retirement savings, and even how to finance higher education. With the help of the Next Generation Personal Finance curriculum and the Everfi game-based learning modules, the students have experienced firsthand doing these tasks.

Forestry:

The Forestry/Natural Resources class has just finished their logging and timber stand improvement (TSI) project at the Brattleboro Pleasant Valley Watershed. The forest is managed for water quality and future tree harvesting. Logs were transported with our new grapple trailer back to school to be milled.

Construction and Architecture

The Construction and Architecture program is working hard to wrap up projects and get as much practice in as possible. Both levels finished state-level testing and are looking toward their futures. Some college, some trade work, some inner exploration, some returning to the program for next year; all hard work and personal growth. Thanks all around for the effort put into making it a great year!
